Building Information Modelling (BIM) is rapidly changing the way we see the world of construction, infrastructure and real estate.

Please join us for a very informative discussion on BIM from the perspective of the General Contractor, Consultant and Vendor. BIM has evolved from a one-system, one-user software to a collaborative, multi-faceted toolbox that incorporates take-off, costing and database management. Our speakers will discuss BIM functionality and how it interfaces with other aspects from their varying professional backgrounds.

Sponsorship opportunities: $500 which includes one free registration, logo on event promotion and acknowledgement at the event.
