"I wish to meet a real-life princess!"

You might think that a young girl's wish to meet a princess is a common occurrence for Make-A-Wish.

And you would be right.

But no two wishes are created equally, and each experience is unique to the wish child, which makes even the most common wishes truly special occasions.

Grace knew she wanted meet Elsa, from Disney's Frozen, and she decided on her wish quickly and easily. Some of the real magic of Grace's wish, however, took place before she even left for her adventure, thanks to our partners at WestJet.

Grace and her family headed to the airport to leave for her wish. In a surprise move, the good folks at WestJet had arranged for princess characters to meet her and send her off!

From there, the trip was pure magic, with a trip to Orlando that included a stay at the always-popular Give Kids The World Village, and park-hopping across the various Walt Disney World® properties. The highlights, of course, involved meeting various Disney characters (and yes, plenty of princesses) along the way.

"Grace's wish was to meet Elsa, a real-life princess," said Grace's mom, Elizabeth. "It was more than she could have ever imagined it would be. Her exact words were 'This was the best day of my whole life, mom!' A full week of family time, leaving all the medical worries behind in the most magical place in the world was the most magical feeling. Thank you for restoring hope and excitement into Grace's little world!"

As was suggested, no two wishes are created equally. And when we see that the Hope, Strength, and Joy created in a wish extends to a whole family, we at Make-A-Wish know that there is no such thing as a 'common' wish.
