Harman's WISH

"I wish to go to a Toronto Raptors playoff game!" Harman, 16, cancer

When Harman was interviewed about having a wish granted, she admitted that she'd have to go away and think about what her second choice might be, because her One True Wish was clear: to see her beloved Toronto Raptors play in a playoff game.

She has been a long-time fan of the team and has followed their progress closely. Sure, she has other interests—she loves Marvel movies, R&B Music, math, science, Mexican food and sushi.

But the Raptors are her team.

In late April, while the Raptors were still early in the playoff hunt, Harman was told her wish was coming true, and that she would be going to Toronto with her parents and brother to watch her team square off against the Orlando Magic in game five of their playoff series.

It was more than Harman imagined it would be. Not only did her team win, but she was surprised to learn she'd also have a chance to meet some of the players, including Fred Van Fleet, one of the team's stars and a key player throughout the playoffs.

"It was a great experience, honestly. I was more than shell shocked in the moment--it was a lot to take in. The game was great, especially getting to watch us win in five games which we've never done before. Thank you once again for everything."

Fast forward to today, and the Raptors have an NBA championship title under their belts! We hope the memory of Harman's wish will feel even more special now that she knows her team went all the way to the top!
