The Missing Link to a Green Economy: Green Industrial Lands

Tuesday, March 6, 2012 • 8:00 - 10:00 am CIRS Building, UBC
(2260 West Mall, Vancouver BC) Registration & breakfast begins at 7:30

Protecting industrial land is key for a healthy economy – but how can industrial land also support a green economy (and vice versa)? Our industrial lands not only serve as places of work, but are also the hub for design and innovation. Yet, the approach to designing most industrial buildings and lands has not evolved as quickly as that for residential or mixed use lands. This session of Market Insights explores the successes and challenges of leading municipalities, developers, investors and property managers in developing green industrial spaces and their role as a catalyst for green economic development.

Reserve your seat today for this timely discussion and networking session.
